STREET PAVING IS POSTPONED; CITY CANCELS ELECTION

PROPOSERS OF PAVING ASK CANCELLATION ALLEGING ILLEGAL CALL.

The election called for Tuesday February 13 to vote on an issue of $100,000 in paving bonds was cancelled at a meeting of the City Council Monday morning.

The Council was convened by Mayor White on request of the paving committee after it had been found that the law had not been complied with on technical points. At the meeting the paving committee was represented by S. A. Cottle, chairman, J. W. Coleman and J. E. Mangum. The anti paving committee was represented by A. N. Green, chairman and Giles L. Avriett. The anti paving committee made no protest at the cancellation order of the council.

O. L. Kidd, local attorney, and Paul Webb, city attorney, were present and both gave their opinions regarding the issues. Mr. Kidd said that the failure of the council to pass a resolution or ordinance setting out the need of street paving in Cameron in addition to the order for the election, was sufficient grounds to invalidate the issue of bonds.

Mr. Webb said that he had recently consulted the attorney general and that his own opinion was that this order could have been passed after the issue of the bonds. A number of the councilmen agreed with Mr. Webb but inasmuch as there was a difference on the points and the fact that proponents of the paving bonds requested cancellation of the election the council voted to cancel.

The resolution canceling the election was offered by Henry M. Hefley and on motion of O. M. Smith the resolution was passed. There being no further business the council adjourned.

'AMERICA'S ANSWER' ATTRACTS HUNDREDS

GREAT WAR FILM BY AMERICAN LEGION SHOWS CLOSE UP OF WORLD WAR

"America's Answer" the great war film shown under the auspices of The American Legion in Cameron at the New Hefley Theater on Monday and Tuesday drew hundreds of people at each of the four showings and the people of Cameron were well pleased with the picture.

The picture taken under the direction of the United States Marine Corps in France shows American Doughboys in action together with French, British and Italian troops in actual fighting with many thrills that brought repeated cheers from the audience.

Particularly impressive is the great guns of the various armies in action. Scenes of the German artillery is shown but most effective is the American and French artillery. The surrender of the German Fleet to the allied fleets is a scene of rare interest with all the great fighting ships drawn up in the battle array and the German submarines and fighting ships yielding to the allies.

The Legion realized good financial returns from the picture and Cameron was well entertained.

Miss Alice McGehee left Tuesday for a few days in the eastern markets and will then go to Magnolia, Ark., where she has a position with a millinery store as trimmer.

Miss Irene Cheeves has returned to Southwestern after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Cheeves.

CIVIC LEAGUE TO PLANT TREES IN THE CITY PARK

PLEA IS MADE FOR CONTRIBUTION OF TREES BY CITIZENS.

At their regular meeting Friday afternoon, Feb. 2 the ladies of the Civic League decided to observe the month of February as tree planting month at the Park.

We ask every citizen who is interested in preserving and adding to the beauty of our park to give a pecan or elm tree, and come down and plant it. Already we have several promised and in next week's papers we will have a list of the names of those who respond to this appeal.

What nobler monument could one erect to the memory of a loved one who has passed on, than a living tree to add comfort and beauty to our people's play ground? Some poet has truly said: "He who plants a tree works with God."

There is a committee to decide on the location, and the City Council is paying a man to take care of what is planted. Those interested, and we hope there are many, will please notify Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Arthur Baskin or Mrs. Geo. Graves.

METHODIST BROTHERHOOD

Next Wednesday night Feb. 21 will mark the third meeting of the Methodist Men's Brotherhood. Already this has become one of the most talked of meetings of the city. For this particular meeting plans have been made and the Committee declares that the program is the best yet prepared. The program is always more or less informal and the program is not known entirely except to the Committee. Mr. A. W. Runyan of Conroe, Texas will be the chief speaker of the occasion. Mr. Runyan is the teacher of a class of 150 men in Conroe and has built it from the ground up. He has no superior in his line and he will hold the men "spell bound" with his good humor and sound logic. Mr. J. J. Pierce of our own city will tell a Mexican Bull Fight story which is full of thrills. He will also have some other features to his part of the program which all will enjoy. The banquet will be served at 7:15 and there will be seats for 125.

Fred McGehee, after a few days visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McGehee, has returned to Ginnett, Ark., where he is manager of the Arkmo Lumber Company.

Mrs. A. S. Epperson is spending the week in Houston, guests of her son, Thadd Epperson.

BAKER'S ANTI-PAROCHIAL SCHOOL BILL IS DEFEATED

TWO GREAT WOLVES SLAIN BY HOUNDS IN NINE HOUR CHASE

LEADER OF PACK AND MATE DIED IN BATTLE TO DEFEND RANGE.

Two great timber wolves belonging to a band of outlaw beasts which for more than a year have ranged in the forests West of Cameron were run down and killed by a pack of hounds Monday in what is said to have been one of the most thrilling chases in recent years.

With his pack and a party of hunters, Pena Wolf, district clerk of Milam county, left the city shortly after midnight Sunday, reaching the range at day break. Shortly after the hunters had pushed their way into the woodlands, the pack picked up the trail of one of the beasts, a female of huge size, and after three hours of killing pace closed in for the kill near the home of a farmer. The wolf with its great fangs defied and defeated the pack in a grueling battle for more than an hour. When the hunters arrived the wolf was shot and the pelt measuring about six feet was taken and will be preserved by Dr. W. R. Newton of Cameron who was a member of the party.

Again taking up the trail the hounds shortly picked up the course of a large male that had forsaken its mate when the cry of the pack was first heard at day break in the forest. After about nine hours the dogs closed in on their prey and the battle of fangs was again resumed. The wolf was weakened by the long run and though fighting with terrible fierceness was no match for the eleven great hounds. The one time king of the range and leader of the outlaw beasts died in a last great effort to defend his range against man and beast. By the time the hunters arrived at the scene of the battle the dogs had slain the wolf. The pelt was found to be useless because of the tearing fangs of the dogs which for more than an hour had battled the beast.

Farmers residing near the forests have lost much livestock and poultry because of the wolf pack which with the closing down of winter took up the meat trail. The pack is fast being thinned out and within a short time the timber wolf will be extinct in this section.

The PROSPERITY DOLLAR

A One Dollar Bill given away by the First National Bank of Cameron on Trades Day has been returned to Chas. Spott, secretary of the Retail Merchants Association with twenty-four signatures attached to the paper accompanying the bill.

While three bills were offered, one each by the First National Bank, Citizens National Bank and the Cameron Herald, only one bill was called for and consequently the other two will await the first farmer that calls at the respective offices on First Monday in March.

The power of local circulation of wealth is emphasized by the fact that one dollar has been made to serve twenty-four people since the first Monday, if all who received it signed. Taking this for an example it is incalculable what good could be accomplished if every dollar possible were put into local circulation and

HOUSE VOTES TO STRIKE OUT THE ENACTING CLAUSE

ARGUMENT IS MADE THAT PROPOSAL IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Austin, Texas, Feb. 13.—The Baker "anti-parochial school" bill, requiring the use of the general curriculum of the public schools in private and parochial schools, was killed in the House today by striking out the enacting clause, 72 yeas to 53 nays.

It was only after a lengthy debate that the bill met its demise. The question of religion entered the discussion. The bill, which was introduced during the session as an amendment to the compulsory education law, was given an unfavorable report by the House Committee on Education. Leave to print it on minority report was secured and the bill came up for action this morning.

Although the consideration started with comparatively little apparent interest in the House, interest grew rapidly as the bill was discussed. To date the bill has the record of being the only measure that has been successful in keeping the House from adjournment promptly at the midday dinner hour. Efforts to recess and to have the body stand at ease for the lunch period were met with cries of "no," keeping the body together under a call of the House. Governor Neff was present during much of the time.

Debate was the most spirited heard at the present session when Representative Baker, speaking for his bill, alleged that the majority of those fostering opposition to the bill were "inspired by Catholics" and "blinded by Catholic propaganda." Representative Jennings responded: "I'll say you don't know what you are talking about."

CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK IS COUNTY DEPOSITORY

The Citizens National Bank has been awarded the county funds for the ensuing year by the Commissioners court having offered the highest bid in rate of interest on daily balances. The rate to be paid is 3 1/2 per cent. Although notices were sent to all banks only three bids were received. The First National Bank was the depository in 1922.

The following attended the Fourth District Group meeting of the Texas Bankers which met in Waco Wednesday: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Graves, Messrs. T. F. Hardy, Oxsheer Smith, J. L. Clinton and Irvin Clarey.

none sent away to out of town markets.

The dollar which was of the 1918 series with the picture of George Washington, was presented free by the First National Bank to Joe Lankford on the morning of Trades Day. From Mr. Lankford the bill passed into twenty three additional hands, and the last to receive the bill mailed it to the Retail Merchant's Association but should have kept it. The association wanted the signed list and not the dollar so the person signing the slip last can call at the office of the secretary and get the same, provided he will identify his signature.

Eight of the signatures are not printed for the reason that they are fake signatures, investigation having shown that parties whose names were attached did not receive the bill while others are fake names. Whether those who attached fake signatures (Continued on page eight.)

TOM PARKER FOUND NOT GUILTY HERE IN MURDER CASE

FORMER MARSHAL OF CAMERON ACQUITTED BY JURY IN DISTRICT COURT

Tom Parker charged by indictment with murder in connection with the killing of a negro jitney driver in Cameron in 1917, and on trial in the district court here since Monday was acquitted by the jury this morning.

Mr. Parker was recently pardoned from the Federal Penitentiary where he served for the killing of his brother-in-law. This killing took place near the Federal Building in Waco.

Mr. Parker is a native of Milam County and was at one time marshal of Cameron, having been defeated by J. E. Holtzclaw.

The jury in the case was as follows: P. H. Renfro, H. J. Aiken, J. C. Wallace, E. H. Foster, A. P. Robinson, Robert Hyde, S. E. Baldrige, J. V. Marak, J. F. Kohut, T. R. Reeves, Tom Floyd, J. M. Mitcham.

Parker was defended by Chambers, Wallace and Gillis. Prosecution was conducted by A. J. Lewis, district attorney.

PRICE INCREASED TO $2.00 PER BARREL ON MINERVA OIL

BIG DEVELOPMENT ERA LOOKED FOR IN THE LOCAL FIELD.

(By E. E. Sullivan)
With a total daily pipe line run of 500 barrels the Minerva oil field, seven miles from Cameron, this week has attracted state wide attention and is rated as one of the great shallow oil pools of the country. The sudden spurt in production aided by the price advance has made the field attractive to operators and an unprecedented development will follow.

With its production of 500 barrels daily the field now is yielding 182,500 barrels a year with a money value of $365,000. Of this amount $45,625 goes to the farmers who own the land. The field has now become a formidable commercial asset and its contribution to the wealth of the community is one of great benefit.

It is expected that with a systematic development of the field the value of the production will be near the million mark at the end of the year.

The feature of the oil situation of the Milam County fields the past week was the announcement of a 20 cent raise in the price of crude oil by the Owens Refining Co., of Cameron. Milam County now has $2.00 oil for the first time since the slump last year crude has been gradually on the up-hill climb for some time with no material advance in the principle by-product, gasoline. The frequent rises in the price of crude is increasing interest in the oil business, especially in the high grade pools, there is a scarcity of the higher grade oils in storage and the prediction is that crude has not reached the peak and will not until early summer.

The best well that has been drilled in the field for some time was reported by the Coyle-Concord Oil Company on the Neihous tract, in the heart of the pool. The well is said to be (Continued on page eight.)

HARDING DELIVERS LINCOLN ADDRESS

SAYS SUPREME GIFT OF GREAT LEADER IN PRESERVATION, NOT CONSTRUCTION

Washington, Feb. 12.—The supreme gift of Abraham Lincoln was not in construction but rather in preservation, President Harding declared in an address tonight at a Lincoln Memorial dinner tendered by friends of Lincoln Memorial university of Cumberland Gap, Tenn.

"Humanity, itself," the president declared, "needs to drink of the cup of unflinching confidence which enabled him to stand erect and unshaken amid discouragements and criticisms which would have crushed any less than a master heart and soul."

The president spoke in part as follows:

"No human story surpasses the fascination and the inspiration of that of Abraham Lincoln. The republic pays tribute tonight and most of the world is doing him reverence because in his unshaken faith the world finds its own hopes mightily strengthened. Our words are all feeble, because we are dealing with the master martyr, the supreme leader in a national crisis, the surpassing believer in a fulfilled destiny, and a colossal figure among the hero statesmen of all ages."

"The world today sees civilization brought to its supreme test. Its trial came when it might least have been expected. At the very apex of material advances when science and industry and invention and culture seemed to have united in justifying man's proudest estimate of his destiny, there came among the nations such a slash of ambitions, such a confusion of ideals, such a crash of non-flinching aims and aspirations, as it had never known before. It brought bewildering confusion and overwhelming amazement to those who had been esteemed the wisest among their kind, and who in the folly of their wisdom had been most certain that such a thing could never happen."

"But the sobering and distressing realization has come at last, that in its eagerness to harness and dominate the material forces of the world, humanity had lost its anchorage to the ultimate things of the higher, the nobler, the spiritual universe. Turning now in the midst of wreckage, to seek for whatever can be trusted as safe and strong and lasting, it is not to be wondered that people turn anew the pages of Lincoln's story. In every truth, his soul is marching on. To him it has been given to leave a living inheritance of vital power and supreme inspiration to the race. Out of Lincoln came the proof that lofty achievement is not in ideals alone, but in that spiritual and material justice which is the wholesome blending of infinite purpose and man's capacity for fulfillment."

"The Lincoln Memorial University has truly been called a living memorial to the emancipator. It was found in pursuance of his expressed desire that the light of learning might be carried to the people of that strangely sequestered, mountain community which his own forbears were members—It stands to the everlasting credit of those men and women of the mountains, that in every time of national need they have been instant in response and magnificent in loyalty. The nation owes to them a vast balance of obligation and the Lincoln Memorial university represents one installment which devout and unselfish people are paying upon that debt."

JUNIOR RED CROSS MAKES GOOD CITIZENS

Through It Children Learn Patriotism
Altruism and Generosity.

The Junior Red Cross exists for the purpose of making good American citizens. This statement was made by an eminent authority in a recent answer to the question, "What Is the Junior Red Cross?" In the United States there are 5,000,000 members of Junior Red Crosses and in the Southwestern Division the membership of children in this organization numbers 434,578 and here is some of the work these children do.

They support work in Europe to children who are in need. They send Christmas boxes of goodies to children who do not have them. They make shipments of garments abroad to the destitute children of war-crippled Europe. But this is not as interesting to Americans, perhaps, as the work which the Juniors do at home. One of the biggest problems in America today, according to experts, is the tremendous amount of malnutrition found among the children of this country. One-third of the children of America are malnourished, according to actual counts. The Junior Red Cross, through its school auxiliaries and growth classes, is seeking to eliminate a large part of this malnutrition and has succeeded to a very gratifying extent.

The Junior Red Cross also is answering the question of how to eliminate individual, group, racial and international hatreds which exist among people today. The polyglot character of the personnel of the average American school gives an excellent field for work of this kind and foreign children, as well as native-born Americans, learn what good citizenship is in their Junior Red Cross activities even more than they do in the patriotic exercises of their school room work. Loyal and serviceable citizenship, that absolute essential to a great democracy, is being created in the breasts of these little foreign-born Americans through the Junior Red Cross activities as it never could be otherwise.

One of the helps to this is the work the children are doing for the disabled ex-service men in hospitals, for the sick and crippled children who need help and cheer. In equipping playgrounds so that sad-eyed little children of the congested districts are taught the joy of a normal childhood. By learning to serve others in these and many other ways, lessons of community spirit and co-operation are taught the growing boys and girls of this country.

Another thing the Juniors are doing is assisting in the promotion of health in their communities by clean-up campaigns and other civil undertakings. On the whole, one of the most constructive pieces of work done in the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross, during the year, in the opinion of those who have studied the situation, is that among the children, which has been carried on through the Junior divisions of Red Cross chapters and the school auxiliaries of Junior members.

SWISS ACTRESS, WITH PLENTY OF MONEY, ARRIVE TO CLAIM HEART OF EX-SOLDIER

Concordia, Kans., Feb. 12.—Having lost her heart to W. W. Clark of Concordia, when he was an American doughboy in the American army of occupation on the Rhine, Mrs. Christine Peters, who says she is a Swiss actress, arrived here today direct from Colbenz to redeem a pledge of more than a year ago. Clark returned from the Rhine and was mustered out last June. Temporary disappointments, however, confronted the young woman. She was informed that Clark was not possessed of great wealth as she anticipated and is now employed on a bridge gang near Cherryvale, Kans.

"That makes no difference, however," she asserted. "Even though he has not a lot of money, I have plenty. I love him and we will be married. I will leave and locate him."

Mrs. Peters who explained that she and a former husband are divorced, was accompanied by eleven trunks. The mere detail of paying $46 excess baggage on the trip from Atchinson Kans., apparently did not perturb her in the least. She was dressed fashionably.

"I thought I would surprise him," she said. "Over at Colbenz we sort of got the idea that all American boys were very wealthy. However, it was not expected wealth that brought me here; it was because I love him."

BIBLE TO BE READ IN TEMPLE SCHOOLS BY BOARD DECISION.

The Temple school board at its regular meeting held last Tuesday evening took action looking to having the Bible read in the public schools of the city. Rev. J. W. Holsapple, pastor of the First Christian church, appeared before the board and presented a petition asking that the Bible be read in the schools.

After hearing the petition John B.

Daniel moved that the board approve the reading of the Bible in the schools under such conditions as may be fixed by the superintendent of the schools. This motion was seconded by O. T. Berry and prevailed. A copy of the record of this action was furnished to Superintendent L. C. Proctor who said the matter probably will be taken up this week, illness of Principal J. L. Head of the High school and of the other members of the teaching corps making it impracticable to reach it earlier. Superintendent Proctor said when instructions are given for the reading of the Bible in the schools in accordance with the board's action, they will prescribe that there shall be no comment or discussion of what is read.

The board decided to call for bids for wiring Reagan, Dickson and Lanier schools for electric lighting and this work will be done at an early date under direction of City Manager Graesser.

Gentlemen:

I thought that you might be interested to know of the most remarkable success we are having with your Superior Buttermilk Starting feed for little chicks. We have at this writing over 6000 baby chicks that we are feeding Superior Starting feed and fine scratch grains exclusively. A finer bunch of chicks I have never seen in all my experience. They are growing by leaps and bounds. The mortality so far has been less than 2 per cent. They appear to be in perfect health. The way they grow and develop would do your heart good to see. Truly the Superior Starting feed is living up to its name.

One or two people around here have tried one or two other brands, but the results forced them to discard them and use Superior instead.

The chicks appear to make a perfect growth, no bowel trouble, no diarrhoea and not a case of white diarrhoea. The entire flock of over 6000 are growing as uniformly as they can. They appear like as many beans, resembling each other as much. No runts, no sick ones and practically no dead ones. We do not fear the job of looking at them in the morning, because we know they will wake up alive instead of dead. I do not feel I can say enough for this wonderful feed.

With kindest personal regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

DOLLY'S BIRTHDAY

"Dolly's birthday is coming!" "Dolly's birthday is coming! Soon, very, very soon now it will be here." And at last it could be said, "Dolly's birthday is here."

Now you may think that Dolly is a very particularly nice doll, but you are wrong. Your guess would be a very good one, but even the best of guesses sometimes are not right.

For Dolly is a little girl. Her real name is not even Dolly, so you see how hard it would be for you to guess anything about Dolly.

Her real name is Margaret, but because she is small and dainty and a great pet and a great favorite she has always been known as Dolly.

At least that is the name she is called by those who love her very much and who know her very well.

Her family call her Dolly and it is a very great compliment when one's family finds that only a pet name will do, for a family is very apt to know one very well indeed, oh, so very, very well.

Yes, it was Dolly's birthday over which there was so much excitement and at last Dolly's birthday had come.

Dolly's birthday had usually been celebrated at eleven o'clock in the morning, but this year it was to be celebrated at supper time and Dolly was to sit up one hour and a half later than usual.

It would be such fun to sit up a whole hour, and then a half of an hour besides, beyond the usual bed time. An hour was nice in itself but that extra half hour would be such fun!

"The Packages Which He Had."

There would be piano playing and singing and games and fun and then there would be extra nibbles of food, for even though there was to be an unusually good supper, still there would be a little room left by everyone for an extra crumb or so of cake. Not to mention an extra candy. Dolly was to have a cake. And candles too. And around her place there would be flowers and ferns. The candles would burn brightly on the cake. Every single thing would be done to make the birthday a very festive occasion.

Now, as I've said, the birthday had come at last as birthdays will do. Sometimes they seem rather slow about arriving. They seem to take their time. But it really doesn't matter if they do take their time for they seem to be more exciting when they do that way. The Fairy Wondrous Secrets had been very busy doing up all sorts of wonderful secrets for Dolly's birthday and she was sending them along by the Dream King.

The Dream King had sat upon Sleepy Time cloud, which is his favorite seat as you know, and he had decided that not only would he call upon Dolly on her birthday, but he would call upon her the night before her birthday, too.

The packages which he had with him were wonderful.

In one was Happiness.

Perhaps you do not know how Happiness can be wrapped up in a package and only the Dream King and Fairy Wondrous Secrets know just how to fix up this package. But it contains many little parts and when these parts are scattered about by the Dream King they take up their abode in a person's room.

Then, too, they follow a person around, very often, very, very often Happiness finds its way straight to a person's heart and there it stays most contentedly. In another package was Long Life and it was going to follow Dolly about. In yet another was the Key-to-the-Secret-of-Knowing-How-to-Enjoy-Things. That was one of the best packages of all, for that key can unlock so much joy.

And that key was going to be given to Dolly! All through her life she would know how to enjoy things, not just big presents but all sorts of things about her, such as the flowers and the birds, a garden, and the love of her family and of many friends.

These were some of the Dream King's packages and he gave them to Dolly. There were presents from her family and her friends and when the candles upon the cake were lighted at supper that very evening everyone felt the candles were burning more brightly than ever.

And indeed they were. They wanted to be their very brightest in honor of the very bright little Dolly.

And the "Many Happy Returns" which were wished her were meant indeed. Oh, I can well assure you of that!

TOWNER-STERLING BILL.

At the second annual meeting of the Wyoming Educational League a thousand copies of the Towner-Sterling bill were distributed among prominent citizens of the State with appeals to support it. The league endorsed the Towner-Sterling bill with the statement that in its opinion it would strengthen the rural and grade schools of the State, provide funds for teacher training, Americanization, physical training, and the removal of illiteracy. A bulletin of the league calls on all its members to aid in securing a vote favorable for the Towner-Sterling bill to the United States Chamber of Commerce in its referendum on educational matters.

This is but a sample. Wyoming is but one State of forty-eight, and a small one (in population) at that. But Wyoming shows an alertness and up-to-dateness which is anything but small; and it thus points the vast majority of States, their educational associations, their fraternities, and other organizations in doing what it can to impress upon Congress that the country wants the Towner-Sterling bill.

The country does want it. The people are hungry for more education, better education. They demand better schools, better teachers, better courses. They have a right to ask their Central Government for help, aid, and support of their own educational programs. The people realize now as never before (with the World War so short a time in the past) that education, and only education, can prevent similar conflicts; that through education comes peace, plenty, prosperity, and happiness, and that where is ignorance is always misery.

The Towner-Sterling bill is not a cure-all. But it does commit the Nation as a Nation, to education, to a wise policy of participation with the States in making children into citizens worthy to bear the franchise, and thus the States into bodies politic worthy of their star in the flag of all of them.

Cadets' Great Ride.

Two hundred and fifty senior cadets of Victoria, B. C., have recently completed a 1,400-mile ride on bicycles, bearing dispatches from the state commandant to the minister for defense. The small riders averaged more than 14 miles an hour, and they completed their task 6 hours and 23 minutes ahead of schedule. This fine performance roused public interest in the new system of cadet training, which has taken the place of the monotonous drill-yard evolutions. Australia is training its youngest soldiers in camaraderie, self-sacrifice, alertness and a love of athletics. The story of the 1,400-mile ride against unexpected obstacles has set a standard which will not be easily forgotten by the Australian boy. While the dispatch ride has done much to direct attention to a happier system of training, it has also served to awaken the interest of fathers and elder brothers.

Eggs From the Orient.

A train of 25 cars, loaded entirely with Japanese and Chinese eggs, left Vancouver, B. C., the other day, bound for New York. The train was made up of nine carloads sent over from Seattle to be attached to sixteen carloads of eggs from the steamer Empress of Russia. The eggs from Seattle were delivered by Japanese liners. The eggs, with the exception of 1,500 cases for London, England, and 1,000 cases for Montreal, were all consigned to New York. The shipment to the latter point consisted of approximately 17,500 cases of 30 and 36 dozen each, or about 6,500,000, more than an egg for breakfast for every man, woman and child in New York city.

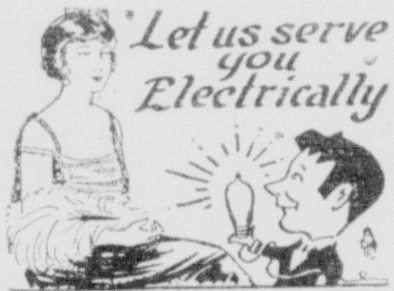

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SAFETY FIRST REQUIREMENTS

- Every first class scout who qualifies for the merit badge in safety first must pass the following tests:
1. State four or more dangerous conditions in the average home and indicate what steps should be taken to correct these conditions.
 2. Produce satisfactory evidence that he is personally responsible for the application of at least two constructive safety first principles in his own home.
 3. Name the most serious violation of public safety principles which has come under his observation, and produce satisfactory evidence that he has done all within his power to correct the same.
 4. State in writing at least six of the most important regulations covering street safety to meet the conditions of the neighborhood in which he lives.
 5. State in writing at least six of the most important regulations covering street safety to meet the conditions of the school he last attended.
 6. Submit in writing an outline of his own plan for a school fire drill and explain the method of properly carrying it into effect.
 7. State in writing at least six violations of safety first principles which are responsible for accidents in connection with railroads.
 8. Stand a satisfactory examination showing a knowledge of the important principles it involves, and satisfactorily demonstrate his ability to assume leadership in case of a fire, panic, or other disaster. (Badge, green cross on white ground.)
- In 1919, 2,203 boys passed this test. How many of you adults who read this test could pass it? How many accidents do you suppose could have been prevented in your town last year if the adult population took as intelligent an interest in this kind of thing as the boy scouts do.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have a healthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. THE PRESS OF AMERICA.

If it were possible for some man of unimagined wealth suddenly to purchase, own, control, and dictate the policy of every newspaper in the United States, he would be dictator of the United States. He could elect whom he pleased. He could control legislation by controlling the legislators. He could tax as he pleased by controlling the taxing bodies. He could make war, declare peace, amend the Constitution—his power would be absolute.

For this country is governed by public opinion, and public opinion is almost entirely in the hands of the newspaper.

With this in mind the words uttered by Oswald Garrison Villard, editor and owner of The Nation, should be published far and wide, and given serious thought by all who read newspapers—which means practically all adults in this country.

Mr. Villard charges that the newspapers has become a money making institution rather than the carrier of an editorial message; that its main function is to pay dividends rather than to present the truth; that the great papers frequently take sides and deny the other side the chance to tell their story, and that they are, for all their cleverness, used far too much by various interests to publish paid-for propaganda for this, that, and the other special interest.

We can all see some examples of newspaper unfairness. There are papers which will print no Masonic news prominently. There are journals which minimize every activity of the Catholic church. There are papers in which a Jew can not get his name, and those in which a Gentile is never handled gently. There are Republican papers who can not tell the truth about Democrats, and Democratic papers which never tell the facts about Republicans.

But, so far, the biased papers balance each other; and no man is compelled to read only one paper. But the real bulwark against newspaper dictatorship is the small paper, the country sheet, the small town daily; and it should be a matter of pride to all such, as well as to their readers, that while of the larger city papers the truly fairminded and honest sheets are in the minority, the exact reverse is true among most of the eighteen thousand smaller journals of the Nation.

PRESERVE OUR HISTORY

The National Archives Building is dead—so far as the present Congress is concerned. For all this Congress will do about it, the most precious possessions of this our Government, its historic documents, its records, its priceless papers, its patents, its great files, may rot or burn!

Abroad, in our consulates and embassies, exists a vast amount of supremely important Americana, which is now, at this moment, in the process of rotting, of being burned, of being lost when consulates are moved. No other government of the world, of any size or importance, but has an archives building, no other government of any size or importance but conserves its historic papers, its correspondence between its great men and the rules of other countries, its records.

It remains for us, youngsters of the great countries, richest of all countries, to house our priceless records all over the world, instead of in Washington, and to keep what we do keep in Washington largely in rented buildings, fire-traps, wooden structures, anywhere, everywhere—rather than spend the couple of millions needed to house them properly, safely, wisely, permanently.

We are all directly concerned. This is our country. If our concern with our country is merely to see that we support the least expensive possible Government, that we may pay the least possible taxes, then this failure to provide ourselves with a safe and fire-proof depository for that which is ours, is understandable. But if we glory in our country's history, if we believe that her records are a priceless heritage to those Americans who will once build on the foundation we lay, then we can not rest contented with this supine yielding to a call for "economy," which risks by fire and water and vermin and carelessness, letters and documents of such vital importance that not all our wealth can replace them if they are lost.

H. E. MILES TELLS WOMEN FORDNEY TARIFF IS PRICE-FIXING, NOT PROTECTION

Eight hundred women at a luncheon given by the League of Women Voters at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia used pads and pencils to make note of the numerous ways in which H. E. Miles, Racine, Wis., chairman of the Fair Tariff League, showed them the Fordney-McCumber profiteers' tariff law is gouging them on whatever they buy for food, clothing, furniture and other commodities. The women made it clear that they were going to use the information they got in fixing responsibility for excessive prices.

Mr. Miles was specially invited to address the gathering on the Fordney-McCumber act. He described himself as being "as good a Republican as the tariff will let me be."

"Congress has placed the general public at the mercy of certain manufacturers," Mr. Miles declared, and then exhibited various articles of cutlery to illustrate how the profiteer's tariff operates to give the makers of such wares exorbitant profits. Increases in the cost of silks, cotton textiles, woolen fabrics, tableware, kitchenware and various necessities of the household were cited by Mr. Miles to confirm his statement that the tariff was enacted for special interests. His data as to the effect of the farm on the cost of living, Mr. Miles said, were based on an exhaustive analysis of $30,000,000 worth of merchandise.

President Harding had "sat back and watched this thing happen," Mr. Miles declared. The President could do something to relieve the people's burden, Mr. Miles said, if he would employ the Tariff Commission in finding the difference in the cost of production here and abroad and then insist that duties be levied on that basis.

"To say that the new tariff has

Luke Mathewsia says, if a person heard all the things that were said about him to his back he would be a whole lot better acquainted with himself.

THE AWFUL TRUTH.

"You look fed up old man."
"Yes, I've had a tiring day. That beast of an office boy of mine came to see me with the old gag about getting off for his grandmothers' funeral, so just to teach him a lesson I said I would accompany him."

"Ah, not so bad: was it a good game?"

SUPPLY YOUR OWN MORAL

Chicago names its principle streets after presidents. Philadelphia names them after nuts.

"Daniel was a piker: he didn't have any nerve."

The thin, pale person who muttered thus, lifted his lip in a sneer.

"He was a piker," he added, scornfully. "He only went into a den of lions."

"I" he continued, "I am greater man than Daniel was; For, I am on my way to interview the cashier at the bank where I am overdrawn."

THERE'S A REASON

Every day since they had started housekeeping his bride had given him the same kind of breakfast food, and finally he mustered up courage to make a gentle inquiry.

"How does it happen that we have this every morning?" he asked.

"Oh, George! she exclaimed, they give blue coupons with each package and 100 coupons you can get the loveliest rocking chair, you have only to eat 90 more packages."

THE TYPICAL AMERICAN.

The typical American man is five feet nine inches tall. The typical American woman is five inches short which is an inch taller than 30 years ago.

American women incline to be flat chested. As physical, they are not as near perfection as the men.

This description is furnished by Dr. Alex Hedlicks, scientist, of the United States national museum.

He says the complexion of Americans is tending to swarthinness and that as a race, we are destined to be dark skinned like the Latins. Maybe Dr. Hedlicks is basing his description on the many freaks seen in Washington.

TODAYS SERMON.

The reason a little success goes to the head is because it finds so much empty parking space there.

stimulated either the imports or the exports of this country is frightfully untrue," he said.

The Fordney-McCumber law is working great injury to the American people, Mr. Miles said, and both Republicans and Democrats are resentful. The new tariff is a misapplication of the Republican theory of protection, and its beneficiaries simply used their extent that the national legislators have become "price-fixers" instead of protectionists.

RELIGIOUS INTOLERANCE.

The Cameron Herald in its issue of Feb. 1, presented an editorial "Let Us Have Religious Freedom" in opposition to Representative O. D. Baker's School bill. The bill prepared for introduction by Mr. Baker was published by the larger papers of the county, and no doubt every citizen with ordinary intelligence can readily see, after reading the bill, what an awful punch Mr. Baker was driving at religious freedom. It has been the policy of the Gazette to not take sides on any question that arises for discussion but we will have to borrow a few inches from the boundary line and say that we endorse Editor J. B. White's view about the school bill.—Milano Gazette.

SUNSHINE.

Beaumont, Texas. Range cattle in Jefferson county alone frozen to death in Sunday and Sunday night's storm will total 10,000 to 14,000 according to estimates placed by ranchmen in this county. J. C. Eisentraut, county agent, who recently completed a livestock census, said today that about 40,000 head were on Jefferson county ranges.

J. E. Bousard, rancher, said 33 per cent of this total had perished. He said he and his partner in the cattle business had counted from 300 to 400 head of dead cattle in the smaller herds and from what he could gather from others his losses were proportionately as large on his big ranch.

S. W. Pipkin, another ranchman estimates the loss over the county at 30 per cent. R. M. White, manager of White's ranch in Chambers county said tonight that he rode over part of his ranch and counted 300 dead cattle. He believes that his total dead cattle be no less than 1,500 head and may run as high as forty per cent. He has 12,000 head on his ranch. He said that he had heard that Roberts and Cartwright had lost virtually all their cattle on their ranch along the Galveston and Chambers county line. C. C. Roberts went to High Island today to learn the true conditions.

Lon D. Cartwright said he had been advised their losses had been heavy. He said there were 2,500 head of cattle on their ranch.

A correspondent at Sabine said that it had been learned there were no less than 500 dead cattle near that place in the small pasture of W. P. H. McFaddin and it is probable that many more dead cattle would be found farther in the marshes.

A passenger reaching this city from Galveston over the Santa Fe, said that about 1,000 head of dead cattle could be seen lying along the right of way fence. No less than 100 dead cattle were observed along the Beaumont-Port Arthur pike, a distance of 20 miles.

E. A. Eamon of Dayton, Liberty county says that he lost but few among his 8,000 head but that his small loss was due to the fact they found shelter in the timber along the Trinity river. The telephone line to the north of Beaumont is out of commission, but it is presumed that on account of the heavy timber the cattle losses were comparatively small.

A. H. Prince, superintendent of the rice experimental station, said that the thermometer went down to 26.

ONE GERMAN BRIDE PASSES TEST MOTHER- IN-LAW IN NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 12.—At least one of the thirty eight German brides who returned from the Rhine with the American doughboys today passed the mother-in-law test.

She was Mrs. William Wheeler, late of Colbenz, soon of Everett, Mass. Her mark in the examination was 100 per cent.

Bright and early in this morning a sturdy, erect figure in khaki entered the lobby of the hotel Rutledge, where the brides are quartered. It was "Bill" back private.

Clinging to the arm was a bent little woman with white hair and keen appraising eyes. It was Bill's mother, Mrs. Annie Wheeler of Everett.

"Tell Mrs. Wheeler to come down, please," the soldier said to the elevator operator and then the two stood there silent, waiting.

The elevator door opened and a plump smiling fair-haired girl of 24 stepped out. A little girl of two was clinging to her hand.

The bride ran at once to the two figures, paying no attention to the doughboy she threw short arms around the gray-haired woman.

"Mama," she said, excitedly, and then an old-fashioned kiss resounded.

A moment or two later, the elderly woman was on her knees with her hands outstretched to the grandchild named after her—a grandchild she had never seen before.

Little Annie drew back. Her mother bent over her. "It's grandma," she said with a German accent. Annie still hesitated.

"Ess ist dine grossmutter," the mother said.

The child held her face up for a kiss. A few minutes later she uttered her first phrase in the English tongue. "Hello grandma."

All but one of the brides seemed happy in the land of their husbands. One, however, had a violent attack of homesickness and threatened to take the next ship back—but recanted.

The other peered curiously from the windows of the hotel or sat around in groups talking. Some of the brave ventured forth to have a look at some of the things they had heard about. But most of them just waited for their husbands, who by tomorrow will be discharged from the army.

NEGRO CONFESSES GUILT TO EIGHT WACO MURDERS

BLACK YIELDS TO HUNGER AND TELLS REVOLTING STORY

CONFESION CLEARS UP MURDER MYSTERIES OF TWO YEARS

Waco, Texas, Feb. 9.—Rangers were en route to Waco from Austin tonight—a detachment of them—on executive order of Governor Pat M. Neff, issued voluntarily and without request on the part of the McLennan county officers. It is presumed their presence in this city was deemed advisable by the governor, following the confessions made by Roy Mitchell, negro, to county officers Thursday night, that he had killed eight white people in Waco and vicinity in the past year, and participated in several assaults of lesser consequence.

Developments in the Mitchell grilling which throughout Thursday night brought sensation after sensation from the lips of the black man offered the following at the close of a hard day's work Friday by county officers:

L. A. Skipworth, father of Grady Skipworth, victim of the Lover's Leap murder, of Nov. 20, visited Mitchell in his cell.

Attorney Garrett and Shehy moved to the legal rescue of Benny Young and Cooper Johnson, negroes, convicted of the Concord axe murders, the attorneys action being based on reported admission by Mitchell, not reduced to writing that he had enacted that crime single handed.

County Attorney Farmer filed formal complaint, charging Mitchell with the murder of Harold Bolton, making five murder charges now pending against the negro.

Relatives of the murderer's victims asked that the law be permitted to take its course.

County Attorney Farmer announced all possible speed would be made to get grand jury indictments of Mitchell and trial.

The negro found himself in what officers termed "good spirits" after his night-long ordeal.

"Lask" Skipworth, father of Grady, called at the county jail Friday to see Mitchell, now charged with having shot his son to death and then disposing of his body by casting it over the cliff.

Mitchell begged Skipworth to forgive him.

Skipworth, according to those with him, looked the negro over closely, shook his head and declared he never could forgive him for having robbed him of his son, or for the brutal treatment given the body after robbing him of his life.

The appearance of Skipworth at the negro's cell was perhaps the tensest one of the countless tense moments filled with high interest, on Friday, the day following a long night of admissions of crimes made by the prisoner to Sheriff Leslie Stegall and County Attorney Farmer.

Late Friday afternoon in his cell at the county jail, Mitchell was visited by Attorneys Barney Garrett and John F. Shelby in company with County Attorney Farmer and with the consent of authorities gave a statement in connection with the Concord axe murders, which will be used in an effort to save Cooper Johnson from the hangman's noose that now threatens his neck. With this confession they hope to secure also the release of Benny Young from a term of life imprisonment in the penitentiary. Both the last named negroes were convicted of that crime on their own admissions.

The negro's philosophical viewpoint after he knew that the officers had "the goods on him" was pertinently expressed after he had completed his confessions, Friday morning, when he remarked:

"God messes up that which man thinks is perfect."

Mitchell's confession as to the killing of W. P. Driskell reveals no motives, but the impelling idea for the murder of Grady Skipworth, Harold Bolton, and W. E. Holt and the attack made on their women companions was, according to the negro's statements, robbery and lust.

Driskell was killed with an axe, the other being killed with pistols and shotguns.

"I have given my soul to God, the city will not my body," remarked Roy Mitchell, early Friday morning, after he had finished the last of his five separate confessions.

"Spiritually I am weak," said Mitchell, when asked as to how he felt. It has been suggested by the press that all of his relatives be permitted to see him at the jail, but Sheriff Stegall and jailer Jesse Abbott will be very careful as to who is allowed to see him; they will take no chances with the negro, who has comfortable quarters on the first floor of the county jail. Mitchell has asked that his pastor be sent to him.

When interrogated as to why he pulled off his hunger strike in the Hill county jail, the negro declared that it came about as a result of a vision he had while in jail at Hillsboro.

When the McLennan county grand jury is impaneled by Judge R. I. Munroe, on the first Monday in next month, it is expected that the murder charges pending against Roy Mitchell will be the first crimes to be investigated. The confession made by the negro, in the murder cases, and also in the assault to murder incidents in which he admits that he has figured, will be submitted to the county authorities.

Besides this, there will be the corroborative evidence that has been gathered by Sheriff Stegall and his deputies and County Attorney Farmer and his staff. All of this connects him with four murders; in fact, everything that could aid the officers in any way has been unearthed, with the exception of a watch belonging to Harold Bolton, which Mitchell claims to have been given to an out-of-the-state negro, and a pistol, belonging to W. P. Driskell, which according to the negro, was sold to a Mexican.

Mitchell, in confessions made to Sheriff Leslie Stegall and County Attorney Farmer early Friday morning accepts responsibility for five murders, four assaults on women and three assaults to murder. His confessions, which were signed by him in a plain and legible hand, have cleared up mysteries that have put to the test all the detective talent in and around Waco. Abandoning his plea of innocence, of which he called upon his God to witness on Thursday, the negro made a clean breast of a succession of crimes that cover a period of nearly a year.

All apparent sham and pretense were cast aside Thursday night when Mitchell was confronted with evidence of his guilt in two murders and he told a story of a succession of crimes revolting in the extreme. He covered his voice, which seemed to have failed when he was given an opportunity Thursday morning to make a statement. Then he whispered a positive denial of his guilt and called God as a witness of his innocence, expressing perfect confidence that the Almighty would take care of him. When the shades of night had gathered and Sheriff Leslie Stegall and County Attorney C. S. Farmer closeted themselves with him in the office of Jailer Abbot he began to show sign of weakness.

"We have got evidence enough to convict you of two of the crimes with which you are charged," the sheriff told Mitchell, "and we want to know about the others. Some of these crimes have been charged to others, and we are going to convict you of at least two of them. We want to find out whether you are willing to let innocent people suffer for what you have done. Now I am going to tell you just how you killed Will Driskell and I want you to keep quite until I ask you to answer me."

Mr. Stegall then described the actions of the negro, as the evidence he had collected had indicated.

"You hid behind the door in Driskell's garage with Driskell's axe and waited for him to come that night. When he drove in and got out of his car you struck him in the head with the axe, splitting his head open. Then you took his pistol and his money, got a quilt from the house, wrapped it about the body and hid it in the seed house adjoining the garage. Then you drove the car to a point just outside the city on the Bosqueville road and got in the ditch, where you left the car."

Mitchell assented and added:

"I did not get the pistol off his person. I hunted for it and took two or three dollars in money from his pocket. Then I went to the house and got Driskell's razor, a black handle one, and his shaving mug and a quilt I wrapped the body in the quilt and dragged it to the door of the shed, opened the door and placed it in there, then took some of the cotton seed and covered up the blood when Driskell had fallen in the garage. I had not yet found the pistol and wondered where it was. When I moved the car I discovered the pistol under it. He must have had it in his hand when I struck him and it was thrown under the car by the impact. I drove the car out Fifteenth street turning into Eighteenth on Herring and out of the city. I intended to park it in the cedars, but changed my mind after reaching a point on the Bosqueville road near the Pruitt place. I decided to bring it back to town, but in attempting to turn I backed into the ditch and could not get the car out. I left it there and walked all the way back. I was afraid to catch a street car, because I had Driskell's gun, both pistol and shotgun, and the other things and I did not want anybody to see me with them."

Sheriff Stegall then confronted Mitchell with evidence of his connection with the Skipworth and Holt murders and he admitted he had committed both crimes. He said he was hidden behind the pavilion at Lover's Leap that night, November 20, when Grady Skipworth and Miss Naomi Boucher drove up. He watched them awhile and then slipped around behind the car, and as the boy got out of the car he shot him with a single barrel shotgun. He made the girl get out and go with him to the cliff as he dragged the body and threw it over. He then made her go back with him to the car, get in and he followed, driving to the point where the three hunters approached. He had gotten out of the car and taken the cushion and his overcoat, placing them on the ground

When the hunters appeared he stopped them and then re-entering the car, drove to the pavilion on the bank of the Brazos river.

"There I took the girl out of the car and we proceeded up the river on top of the bluff, walking along a path. Finally I stopped and mistreated the girl, then she broke away from me and ran. I followed her, but she ran off the bluff and I abandoned the chase. I drove the car to the place where it was found the next morning. I got $1.36 from Skipworth's pockets, also his watch and chain."

Mitchell confessed to shooting William Cottrell and Mrs. Marjorie Sheffield on the night of May 17, 1922. He said after shooting the man he heard a car approaching and, shooting the woman, he darted into the brush. Both of these parties recovered.

He also said he held up a negro man and woman early in January, driving the man from the car and assaulting the woman. This was in the south part of the city. A few days thereafter he attacked a white man and woman on South Twelfth street. He jumped on the running board of the car with a shotgun and demanded that they turn and drive away from the city. The woman was driving toward town and stepped on the gas. The man grabbed the gun and in the scuffle both barrels were discharged. Then he jumped off and ran away. He lost his cap in the car and he heard it had been identified as his cap. The cap was shown him and he acknowledged it was his property.

The negro detailed the particulars of the double murder of Holt and Mrs. Denecamp. He had seen them drive out the little cross road that runs between the Springfield road and the Marlin road five miles out. He followed and soon came upon them. He killed Holt, and, taking the car and the woman, drove to a point near where the bodies were found in a secluded spot, where the woman was twice assaulted. Then he shot her to death. He left her lying there on the ground and drove to town. After reaching the city, he decided to return and remove Holt's body from the road to a more secluded place, where it would not be so easily discovered. He had difficulty finding the body, but succeeded at last and tying it to the car, dragged it to where he had left the woman. He took her body in the car and driving to the spot where they were found, placed them side by side, and left them there. He then drove to the city and left Holt's car on Eighth street, between Austin avenue and Washington, where it was found the next day.

The statement of Mr. Mitchell that he killed Mr. and Mrs. Barker and Homer Turk was not reduced to writing by County Attorney Farmer. The negro did not go into details, only admitting that he had committed the deed, and Mr. Farmer is not inclined to give his statement much credence. He will be questioned further about this crime.

It will be remembered that two negroes, Cooper Johnson and Bennie Young were tried and adjudged guilty by juries of the murders of the Barkers and the boy at Concord. Johnson was given the death penalty and Young was sent to the penitentiary for 99 years. Both cases are on appeal, the firm of Garrett and Shehy being the attorneys.

Jesse Thomas, a negro service car driver, was killed a few days after the Bolton murder and a mob burned the body. The negro was picked up by a private citizen and taken to the house where lived the woman companion of Bolton. She had described her assailant of the night of May 25, 1922. Thomas suited the description the man thought, and when he was taken before her she declared he was the guilty party. Her father, who was present, began shooting the negro and he ran, but fell dead in the yard, riddled with bullets. Police arrived after the negro was dead and removed the body to the undertaking establishment of L. C. Puckett, where it was being prepared for burial, when a mob gathered, secured the body, took it to the city hall square and burned it to a crisp. The skeleton was then dragged through the negro quarters and along the streets until the crowd had dwindled to a few boys. Constable Stegall, now sheriff and his deputies arrested the boys and delivered the skeleton to an undertaker.

At the moment Thomas was being killed Detective R. H. Hall and Probation Officer F. A. Craven were on the way to the home of the victim of the Bolton attack with Roy Mitchell the now confessed murderer of the young man believing that they had the guilty party. Hearing the shots they approached carefully, and arriving near enough to ascertain what had happened, they returned with their prisoner, intending to place him in jail. A mob had surrounded the county bastille, and seeing the futility of trying to fasten the crime on Mitchell after another had been identified as the guilty one, they released Mitchell.

Quart of Water Cleans Kidneys

Take a Little Salts if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally with a well-known authority, having so much rich food, creates acids, which clog the kidneys. They become overworked, from the drain, get sluggish and fail to filter the acids and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, backaches, liver troubles, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The commonest ailment is a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular in passage, or attended by a sensation of itching, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get them two boxes of Jad Salts from the nearest drug store, and take one in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys will be fine.

This famous salt is made from the best of grapes and lemon juice, combined with other ingredients, and has been used for years to cleanse and stimulate the kidneys, also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

JACKSON BARNETT SLEEPS ON PALLETT

AGED INDIAN ALSO DISCARDS
SUCH INCONVENIENCES AS STARCHED LINEN.

Muskegee, Ok., Feb. 10.—After three hectic years of wedded life that required him to live up to his position as the world's richest Indian, Jackson Barnett is alone again and with a grunt of relief has cast aside the soft ways of civilization.

The aged Indian has discarded such inconveniences as starched linen and beds and is enjoying himself in aboriginal fashion, although amid the splendors of his ultramodern bungalow near here.

Barnett's white wife, who recently was deeded more than $500,000 has gone to California with her daughter, Miss Maxine Love, leaving her seamy bronze-faced husband to his own devices. And Jackson is enjoying his liberty.

The old Indian now has no worries his fortune has been disposed of and he is assured of a life income of $50,000.

Of the $550,000 deeded by Barnett to his wife $200,000 has been placed in trust for him on which he will receive the income during his life, together with revenues from other property. A big share of his wealth under terms of an agreement reached recently in Washington will go to an Indian institution in Oklahoma and to various charities.

Barnett's wedded life began three years ago when he eloped from his little hut near Henryetta and was married in Coffeyville, Kans. Charges were made at the time by his guardian and Indian agents that his bride had "kidnapped" him.

Before the glowing fireplace in the living room of his bungalow, Barnett now makes a rude pallet of quilts on the floor and gets a comfortable night's sleep.

Aroused last night the Indian gave the first interview since his marriage at which his wife was not present. Asked how long his wife would be gone he replied:

"She say she be gone 'bout two weeks" and yawned sleepily.

When asked why she left he at first said he did not know. He was reticent and, in after a time thawed out and in the halting numbling guttural of the old-time full-blood Indian told his story.

"She want me to move to California ever since we go out there that time last summer. I don't like it out there. The climate don't agree with me. Too far from home" I tell her, "spose I get sick out there?" but she all time wants to go.

So last Tuesday she's catch the train and go. She says she wanted to put her daughter in school." Jackson voice trailed off in another prodigious yawn. "But I try to get her to go to school somewhere around here.

"Then we go off to Washington. I catch cold up there. Ain't feel good ever since. Don't like to travel around all time, nohow."

Barnett apparently is untroubled by his wife's going. All that he wants is to be left alone.

The old Indian has always shrunk from social duties and has continued objected to travel.

On one occasion on the tour last summer he slipped away from his wife in Coffeyville, Kans., and attempted to bribe a railroad conductor to bring him back to Muskogee. He had no funds for a ticket, however, as his wife was carrying the family bank roll.

Asked about his age, which has never been definitely established, he replied:

"I dunno, some say 56, some say 60 and some say 70. I guess 50 must be about right," he added after a moment's reflection.

"I got plenty money long as I live an' they say no use have 'em fight over it after I'm dead," Barnett said regarding the disposal of his fortune. "So we fix it up so there won't be none left."

Barnett felt the simple life of the Indian before his marriage. He had a small farm and lived alone in a small hut.

Before Oil was found on his allotment he operated a ferry on the Arkansas River. Barnett is a creek Indian and in the eyes of the Government an incompetent.

NEFF SIGNS BILL FOR NEW COLLEGE

TECHNOLOGICAL SCHOOL IS NOW ASSURED, BUT SITE
TO BE CHOSEN

Austin, Texas, Feb. 10.—Governor Neff late today signed the West Texas Technological college bill, which was passed finally in the house this week and in the senate last week. The governor affixed his signature to the document in the presence of Senator Bledsoe of Lubbock, Representatives Chitwood of Sweetwater, authors of the measure, Homer Wade, of Fort Worth, assistant manager of the west Texas Chamber of Commerce and press representatives.

The measure carries an emergency clause and is effective immediately. Under the provisions of the act a million dollars is appropriated for the establishment of the college, as follows: During 1923, $150,000 for purchasing lands; during 1924, $500,000 for erection of college; during 1925, $350,000 for equipment and furnishings.

The college will be located north of the twenty-ninth parallel and west of the ninety-eight meridian. Its primary purpose will be educational along lines of manufacturing cotton, materials, textile engineering, and technique of weaving, dyeing and tanning.

A movement for a west Texas college was started six years ago, headed by P. C. Coleman, of Colorado City, Texas. In honor of the occasion of the signing the measure, Governor Neff was presented with a gold fountain pen by the West Texas chamber of Commerce. In turn, he presented the pen to that body and to P. C. Coleman.

MAYFIELD AND REPORTER
FIGHT IN HOTEL LOBBY

Austin, Tex. Feb. 10.—Earle B.

Mayfield, United States Senator elect and Silman Evans, Fort Worth newspaperman, had a personal encounter in the lobby of a local hotel Saturday and after blows were struck they were separated. Neither was injured.

The fight is said to have occurred over something that Evans had written for his paper. Later the two met in the day and shook hands.

Mayfield and Evans met by accident in the room of a mutual friend and words passed between them there. The door was locked but a personal encounter was prevented by this mutual friend.

Evans left the room and sometime later encountered Mr. Mayfield in the lobby when more words were exchanged and blows resulted, quickly followed by a clinch, and both men fell to the floor. Friends rushed in and separated the two before either was hurt or badly bruised.

According to the versions, Mayfield was the aggressor in the hotel room and Evans in the lobby.

In the room Mayfield complained of some things Evans had written and said the matter might as well be settled. Evans said this was agreeable to him, but not in the room of a mutual friend, that he would see him later which he did in the lobby of the hotel.

Much excitement was caused by the altercation, and it was the subject of conversation downtown and in legislative halls. Later when both men were at the Capitol they met and shook hands, declaring the incident closed.

METHODIST REVIVAL MEETING POSTPONED UNTIL LATER DATE

REV. J. E. MORGAN ILL AND CANNOT FILL ENGAGE-MENT WITH CHURCH.

In a telegram to Rev. Ira F. Key, pastor of the Methodist church in Cameron, Rev. J. E. Morgan, noted Texas Methodist evangelist, expresses his regrets at not being able to fill the revival engagement with the church at this time and in consequence the revival which was to have begun at the church Sunday morning has been postponed.

Weather conditions have been unfavorable and Sunday found the city blanketed in sleet and snow so that the meeting would have been hampered. People in Cameron regret to hear that Rev. Morgan is ill and hope that he may soon recover.

Rev. Key says that Rev. Morgan has offered to come here as soon as he can recover and for that reason no date can be set for the beginning of the meeting. The meeting will begin on the recovery of Rev. Morgan.

It is possible that the auditorium of the new church may be completed by the time the meeting will begin. Previously it had been planned to hold the meeting in the basement of the church.

DOES TRAINING PAY?

The business world has passed through a state of reconstruction, and is improving rapidly. A large number of industries are employing men and women especially those who lay off office help some time ago. Salaries are being raised. During the depressed times, business men learned that it was necessary at all time to get down to a rock bottom efficiency basis and in order to make their business profitable, it is necessary always to employ the very best trained office help. Which class is to be employed at a time like this? The one best trained for the business office. He is sure of his job and draws the best salary. The man or woman who is prepared for his or her work is the one who stays on the pay roll and enjoys the increase in salary and promotion.

Specialized business training will lift anyone above the masses. Ability is nothing but an average brain specially prepared. Such training is necessary to success in this age of business specialization. Brains are at a premium. There are plenty of men and women for the ordinary job that pays an ordinary salary, but the demand for high-priced workers for big jobs is always greater than the supply. This is proven by our free Employment Department. We are

THORNDALE STATE BANK
LOSES NO TIME IN SERVING.

Following the fire of Monday morning which destroyed the Thorndale State Bank building, quarters were and cashing checks the same as before the store of the Thorndale Hardware Company where they continued to serve the public, receiving deposits and cashing checks, the same as before. Mr. Sam Clement, cashier of the bank, informs the Champion that the business will be conducted at present temporary quarters in the hardware store until a new building can be constructed upon the same lot they occupied before the fire. The plans for the new building are now being drawn and the actual work of building the bank's new home will begin within a few days after the debris has been removed.

It is stated in an article telling of the fire elsewhere in this issue that the furniture and fixtures of the Thorndale State Bank were saved.

but we learn since that article was put in type that the greater portion was saved but it was impossible to save all and considerable value was destroyed. All papers and records were in the fire-proof vault and were unharmed.

Mr. Clement, cashier of the bank says since the misfortune of losing their building must be borne and a new building must be provided, they have decided to build even a better and finer building than the one destroyed. The new building will be modern in every way and more commodious than the old Thorndale Champion.

TRAIL OF SAVIOUR TO CROSS FOUND BY CAMERON MAN

DEPICTS SCENE OF CRUCIFIXION FROM HISTORIC "PLACE OF THE SKULL."

27 December 1922.
Berlin, Germany—8 Kochstrasse.
Mr. Alfred E. Brady,
Cameron, Texas.

My Dear Son:
SYRIA AND PALESTINE

explain in detail, as the quarantine officials came aboard our ship and explained that Jaffa had a plague, and we were not allowed to land, but after he learned that we would go directly thru Jaffa for Jerusalem, and not stop either coming or going, we were allowed to pass thru after having secured eight Autos for the forty American sailors that I agreed to "chaperon" and bring safely back to the ship. The Jaffa streets were full of beggars in rags—dirty, sick, sore eyes, many only a single sight and all with outstretched hand, begging alms as of old. Before we were loaded into the autos, three sailors near me were looking about the waters edge, one saying "well, this must be the place, but I'll say they have all been chopped down, it's funny, too that any one would destroy them" I asked what he was looking for, and he replied, "when, only for some of those 'bullrushes' that Jesus was born in somewhere around here, you know this is the place where they found Him in a basket." Some of the men who heard him had a good laugh, but to me it was scarcely a laughing matter for the poor chap knew so little of the Bible. He knew that Jaffa figured prominently in the Bible, and he confused Moses with Jesus.

Palestine? That little stage where the drama of humanity was enacted. It is quite easy to find—a tiny land about 150x60 miles—with green valleys—rocky hills—from snowy Hedmon and the Lebanon, all green with cedar, and the crags of the great Sinai, the purple hills towards the great Arabian desert—this is Palestine. For centuries and centuries mighty nations have fought—shed the blood of their peoples, contending for its possession; and the fury of their fighting has swept the land of human flesh. Temples—palaces—entire cities have been swept level with the ground and vanished like frost before a strong sunlight. Cities that once were the pride and glory of a mighty race, now are crumbled ruins so that no one may mark the exact spot where once they stood. Great Palaces and greater churches have been lost sight of. With railways from Jaffa, Mount Carmel to the Sea of Galilee—from Beirut to Damascus—fine auto roads to Schechem, Nazareth, Tiberias, and in face most any place, and with hotels all along the route, modern life has indeed broken into the Holy Land.

Our long line of autos with the American sailors, passed over the Plain of Sharon (1 Chr. xxvii 29. Is. xxxv 2) and about 10 miles from Jaffa came to Lydda, where Peter raised Dorcas to life (Acts ix). Also passed thru Beth Horon—Bethel and into the holy city of Jerusalem itself. One of the great dreams of my life had been accomplished at last. Jerusalem! Of all the pictures in my minds eye of Jerusalem, none was like the actual and physical Jerusalem as I saw it first. Of course, in common with most folks, my first impression of this most historic city was a disappointment but Jerusalem grows on one as one studies it from a historical standpoint. Wish I might have spent a month there. As it must have been filled almost three thousand years ago, it is today—with beggars, in rags and with such terrible eyes and sores over the body. Have never seen so many people in one city with such ragged clothes and so filthy. So many blind or half blind. The great church, covering, with its many additions, the place where Christ was thought to have been crucified is very interesting. As I walked about the streets—following what they told me was the actual route traversed by Christ as he was led up-hill and down hill to his crucifixion, I wondered if this could be the real "way of the cross" as trodden by Jesus.

Much of Jerusalem is now quite modern of course, altho so much of it especially the customs and dress of many are just what Christ saw. To think of a people changing so little in almost 3000 years, when all about them new ideas and new standards of living have sprung up. But after all, just exactly what have they lost? Or others gained? A great difference I know.

The city of Bethlehem, where Jesus Christ was born is easily reached by auto in a few hours. The burial place of Rachel (Gen. xxxv) the scene of the story of Ruth and Boaz (Ru. i iv) the home of David (1 Sa. xvi) xvii; 2 Sa. xxiii) and the immortal birth-place of the Babe of Bethlehem, Jesus the son of David. I stood and looked out over the Hills of Judea with their purple mists and ancient grandeur and could not help but envy them the hour of having felt the feet of Jesus Christ—of having furnished a background—a meeting place for His teachings. South of Bethlehem at Hebron, Abrahams sole possession in "the land of promise" and where is the sepulchre (Gen. xxiii) in which were buried Sarah, himself, Isaac, Rebekah, Leah and Joseph. (Gen. xlix, 29-32.) It was about here that Saul pursued David, "as one doth hunt a partridge in the mountains (1 Sa. xxvi 20.) I visited the Church of the Nativity, built over the spot where it is said that Christ was born. I must say that my approach to this spot, most sacred to so many of all lands, with reverence. And as I started up the steep incline to the Mount of Olives, my heart beats became quicker and quicker not because of the incline, but because, with each step upward I seemed to feel the nearness of that sacred spot where He stood on that memorable night.

Looking out over Jerusalem and the Jordan Valley—the Dead Sea and the country round about the Mount of Olives, I tried to imagine some of the scenes which have so changed the history of Jerusalem, and in affecting her have so affected the history of the world. Looking across the Plain of the Shepherds, I saw a large square of olive trees, said to mark the spot where the shepherds "watched their flocks by night" and saw the "star of the East" which was the signal that the child, Jesus, was born in the city of Bethlehem. I saw the Mountains of Moab across the Dead Sea and tried to imagine the land of the Moabites—Ammonites—Edomites.

Alone on the hill top, there reading the word of God, there must come a quiet contentment, and you do not wonder that the children of Israel in the desert longed for this land as a land flowing with milk and honey; and you can not wonder that the great Prince Joseph in Egypt required an oath of his brethren that they should lay his bones in the quiet valley of Shechem where he had fed his fathers sheep; you do not wonder that the daughters of Jacob beside the rivers of Babylon mingled tears with their music when they remembered Zion. To go thru the Hills of Judea—the valley of Jordan—the Mountains of Gilead—the wide plains of Samaria and on over the hills of Galilee and see the herdsmen as they follow their sheep and goats—the husbandman in his field as he works with his vineyards—the men and women as they re-arrange and strengthen the terraces on the hill side—and the little brown children as they play on the hill side and in the road way, laughingly play at ball with a round stone for a ball, seeing all this one almost forgets the wild turmoil just over the hill, as it were, of the strife, turmoil, wars and hatred. One rather feels that he has indeed walked in the paths of the Almighty. And even tho the cities and great buildings have crumbled into ruins—the olive trees long since decayed; and nation after nation destroyed, yet one feels that the mountains in the distance, and the very hill on which you stand have kept silent guard over the land that saw the birth and the sad fate of the Man of Sorrows, who was acquainted with grief.

One must suffer rather a rude shock on first glimpsing Palestine, for the people are so varied. Egyptians in their long white cotton robes; Mohammedans in their red turbans; Arabs dressed wide stripes of white and brown garments; Syrians in black, baggy breeches; dark skinned peoples in gayly colored mantles; Levantines and Russians in lamb's wool caps; Greeks in blue embroidered jackets; Europeans in the ordinary dress; English soldiers in khaki; women in black with black veils; many old men, many wearing glasses and with long black robes with a white-yellow or green scarf bound about their heads. But why should it not be like this, when Christ came to save Jew and Gentile alike—and why should I be disappointed in seeing so many races in this most sacred spot when we all call on Him for salvation!

Palestine truly is a wonderful land; wonderful because of its geographical position, wonderful because of its strange configuration of hills and tangle of valleys—its striking contrast of rocky barrenness and easy fertility—because of its checkered history, but most wonderful of all because it was here, of all lands of the earth, that Almighty God chose chiefly to reveal Himself to man. One is apt to carelessly allow oneself to believe every tale told by guides or others living there, but the real interest lies in regarding the country itself with all its great natural outlines, as the actual country where Christ was born, grew to manhood, taught, lived the ordinary life, and wrought such wonderful works, and finally died. With all the changes from century to century—of nations coming and passing on—of great cities springing up and falling into oblivion, Jerusalem occupies the site it ever did. The valley of the Kedron and that of Hinnon, or Tophet, still run round three of her sides. The Mount of Olives has ever stood guard over that most wonderful City, as it does today. Think of how many, both young and old, in the ages past—patriarch—prophets—kings—apostles, even our Lord Himself, have stood on that hill top and gazed on its wonderful view. Hills, valleys, rivers, plains remain the same as Abraham found and viewed them. Shepherds, both men and boys, lead and feed their flocks today, as centuries ago the sons of Jacob did theirs at Dothan or David his at Bethlehem. Christ and His disciples walked about Palestine by roads that must follow today, about the same lines—Jericho to Jerusalem, Jerusalem to Samaria, to Nazareth, Cana and Sea of Galilee. They dress, eat, talk and act in everyday life as they must have then. Beggars, lepers, blind by the way side, the sowing, plowing, reaping, the threshing, floors, shepherds with lambs in arms, plowers with oxen, asses loaded with grain sacks, camels loaded with heavy merchandise, (silks from Egypt?) small horses with great loads of wood, thistles along the roadside, men with water bags made of animal skins, herds of sheep, veiled women, boys and girls dressed alike, all these things help make the Bible seem real, and one grows to appreciate the imagery of the Bible and how Christ and the prophets made us of the ordinary circumstances of everyday life and articles of every day use in order to enforce spiritual truth by parable, proverbs and home illustration.

At Jaffa there is a house called "the House of Simon the Tanner" where once "Peter lodged." One told me that this was certainly not the house, while next day another told me that it surely was the house, but it does not matter to me, for I am certain that Peter was there once and whether or not I saw the house, or whether or not the house still stands, I am not at all concerned with. I failed to find the "Rose of Sharon" altho saw many flowers had never before seen, and many that we have at home. The dainty "lilies of the valley," small daisies—large red mallow—eucalyptus trees and etc, lined the roadside. Geraniums (?) from 4 to 7 feet high in places. And to think that amid such peaceful scenes there once fought the hosts of the Israelites—the Philistines—Egyptians—Romans—Persians—Arabs—Crusaders—Saracens—Turks—Allies! Gezer, the ancient city, given Solomon as a dowry when he married Pharaoh's daughter (Jos. xvi. 3 - 1 Ki. ix 15 - 17). SENATE PASSES TEXT BOOK BILL

CONTRACT FOR EXTENSION OF BOOKS NOW IN USE IS PROVIDED.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 8.—The Pope bill providing for an extension of the contract on text books in use Dec. 1, carrying amendments to permit institution of suits by book companies to determine validity of recent awards was passed finally by the senate today after several hours of debate. The vote was nineteen to eight, with one pair. The effect of the amendments adopted is to leave the entire matter of textbook adoptions in the hands of the textbook commission, authors of the amendments said.

Two amendments of importance were adopted to the bill as passed by the house. One by Senator Witt, directs the attorney general to institute an investigation of the recent awards and in case such an investigation is not begun within sixty days book companies holding awards are authorized to institute proceedings to test validity. The amendment also provides that if the contracts are found to be valid, the measure shall have no effect on the contracts. Another amendment provides that the contract shall be extended only so Aug. 31, 1925, or until the textbook commission adopts other texts through valid procedure.

Attempts to postpone action on the bill and to prevent suspension of rules for final passage failed, the measure being engrossed by a vote of 18 to 9.

During the debate on the bill the afternoon, Senator Bowers of Caldwell charged that representatives of book companies who lost contract awards were behind the movement to annul the recent awards and that such representatives were authors of the Pope measure. He also declared that questionnaires on the text book, controversy have been sent broadcast over the state in an effort to get support of the move to abrogate new contracts. Bowers urged a complete investigation of the matter before passage of the bill.

Senator Witt of McClellan County, joint author of the two amendments to the bill as passed, charged that pressure had been brought to bear upon the Senate educational committee so that it recalled its favorable report on the house resolution calling for an investigation of the book contracts.

Senator Holbrook declared the law was not complied with in several instances in letting the recent contracts.

Governor Neff was in the senate throughout the debate on the Pope bill, presumably to assist in determining what action he will take on the measure. His connection with the text book commission was mentioned frequently.

The vote on final passage followed: For—Bailey, Bower, Burkett, Darwin Davis, McMillin, Flood, Fairchild, Holbrook, Lewis, Murphy, Parr, Pollard, Rice, Ridgeway, Strong, Turner, Wirtz and Wood; Against—Baugh, Bledsoe, Clark, Stuart, Thomas, Watts, Witt and Woods; Rogers and Cousins, paired.

The senate passed the Rice bill providing for an appropriation of $11,000 to construct a new roof on the administration building at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton. A bill by Doyle, regulating of court terms in Limestone and Freestone counties also was passed.

WACO NEGRO CHARGED WITH MURDER DENIES ANY PART IN CRIME

Waco, Tex., Feb. 8.—Roy Mitchell the negro charged with four murders in this county and who after being arrested and removed to Hillsboro inaugurated a hunger strike, yielded to natural demands for food and told the jailer he would eat anything he would bring him. He said he was hungry and wanted food other than milk, which had been administered forcibly. He was given a substantial meal which he eagerly dispatched.

In addition to breaking his fast, Mitchell also broke his silence. Speaking in a whisper, he declared to a representative of the Associated Press that he was innocent of the charges against him "God being my witness," he said, "I did not kill those people."

Lying on a cot in his cell he could not whisper so as to be heard on the outside and when asked to come closer to the bars he deliberately but slowly rolled over and fell on the floor near the wall on his cell. He then raised himself to a sitting posture and declared his innocence. He would not utter another word and was left sitting silently on the floor of his cell.

A special cell has been prepared for Mitchell on the first floor of the jail. This cell is equipped with double bars and every other precaution has been taken to meet every emergency.

"Slimy Taste"

"When I feel stupid, get constipated, or bilious, I take a good dose or two of Black-Draught and it sets me straight," writes Mr. George B. Haislep, of R. F. D. 2, Columbia, S. C. "It cleanses the liver and I feel all right, and have not used any other medicine as I do not see the need of it. I am a guard at the State Reformatory, and have been for three or more years. When I first heard of and the good medicine it was, I had been having a tired feeling when I'd get up in the morning. I would be stiff and sore, and had a slimy, bad taste in my mouth, but didn't think so much of it till I began to feel stupid and didn't feel like eating—then I knew I needed medicine. It was then I began Black-Draught, and I felt all made over, ready for any kind of work, ready to eat and sleep. So, for any return of this trouble, I take Black-Draught, and for 25 years it has been my medicine, and I wouldn't be without it at all. My work is constant. I am on my feet a lot. I am out of doors, and fresh air and Black-Draught are all the medicines I need. I recommend it to others for I know it is good."

A TALK WITH A CAMERON MAN.

Mr. W. H. Ledbetter, Horseshoer of E. First Street, Tells of an Interesting Experience.

There is nothing like a talk with one of our citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Cameron man:

"Everybody knows that horseshoeing is hard on the back and kidneys, owing to the position and strain across the kidneys when holding a horse's foot," says Mr. Ledbetter. "My back became weak and my kidneys caused annoyance by the too frequent passages of the secretions, which were, at times, painful. It seemed as if the muscles of my back were tied in a knot and when I stooped, it was mighty painful to straighten. I took Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me quickly."

The fruits of my toil give comfort to the aged and honest pleasure to little children; the monarch in his palace, the pauper in his hovel, alike turn me in common understanding.

Through my faithful hands must pass to be inscribed upon time's deathless scroll the valiant deeds of the warrior—the ringing phrases of the statesman—the matchless cadence of the poet's song. Without my handiwork, history could be but transient, and language but the pagan's snarl.

Judge Gillis will go to Austin on February 15 to get these bonds for the city. He has handled the details in connection with the issue and all matters pertaining to the bonds have been handled correctly and with dispatch. The bonds have been sold to the three banks in Cameron and will be delivered to them on that date.

The council has retained the services of A. F. Mitchell to handle the engineering work of the extension, bonds being issued in the sum of $14,000. FIRE DESTROYS BANK BUILDING AND 2 STORE BUILDINGS IN THORNDALE FEB. 5.

Thorndale suffered a $50,000 fire loss early Monday morning when fire of undetermined origin destroyed three brick buildings and did considerable damage to a fourth in the business district. Among the buildings destroyed were: The Thorndale State Bank, the John Moerbe building, occupied by H. L. Skinner, dry goods merchant, the J. M. Gilchrist building, unoccupied and undergoing repairs, all of which was a total loss. The fourth building suffering injury was the building occupied by the Thorndale Drug Co., and owned by Dr. L. L. Lee of San Marcos, which was damaged about $500 by the roof being burned off and the drug stock of the Drug Company suffered water damage to the estimated amount of $400.

The fire was discovered by the night clerk at the I. & G. N. depot about 1:30 a. m., and says the flames had considerably illuminated the heavens when he awoke. He immediately tried to turn in an alarm but finding it almost impossible to get the people to answer their phones he struck out afoot, first going to Mr. Chas. Saller's residence, then Sam Clements and back to telephone exchange where he left the responsibility of giving further alarm to the operator.

Mr. Pinkerton says he fired a pistol several times but the noise of the snow storm then raging seemed to prevent the shots from being heard and only a few men responded immediately.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion of those who reached the scene of the fire early that the fire must have originated in the store of H. L. Skinner, a recent purchaser from M. E. Fisher & Son. This opinion is based upon the general appearance of the flames and the progress made by the fire at the time they reached the scene, the Thorndale State Bank building being destroyed after the arrival of these men, who were helpless to save it because of the extreme heat of the flames then enveloping the entire structure.

The losses are:

Thorndale State Bank—building and fixtures valued at $12,000 with $2,000 insurance on the fixtures and $4,000 on the building. The building was a complete loss, the furniture and fixtures being saved by removal from the building.

The stock of merchandise owned by H. L. Skinner was a complete loss with $12,500 worth of insurance. The building occupied by Mr. Skinner, owned by Mr. John Moerbe, valued at $7,000 and insured for $3,500, was a complete loss.

The J. M. Gilchrist building which was unoccupied and being remodeled at the time, valued at $7,000 with $3,500 of insurance, was a complete loss.

The building occupied by the Thorndale Drug Company and owned by Dr. L. L. Lee of San Marcos, sustained a damage of about $500, covered by insurance. The Thorndale Drug Company suffered considerable damage to the stock of drugs and sundries.

This was the most disastrous fire Thorndale has had since the fire several years ago that destroyed the east side of the business district, and had it not been for the fact that the roofs of all buildings in town were covered with snow it is more than possible that the entire western portion of town would have been destroyed in Monday morning's fire. —Thorndale Champion.

SUNDAY LAWS GIVEN SETBACK IN BEAUMONT BY VERDICT OF JURY.

Beaumont, Texas., Feb. 8.—The Sunday blue law campaign here received a setback shortly after 6 o'clock tonight when a jury returned a verdict of not guilty at the trial of T. B. Noble Jr., manager of a local theatre, who was arrested last Sunday.

There were seven other defendants, but it was decided to make a test of the Noble case. The case was tried before Justice of the Peace H. H. Reeves who held the trial in the county court room.

There was no taking of evidence as both sides agreed upon a statement of fact. Arguments of the opposing counsel, however, lasted for eight hours. The jury was out eight minutes. More than 300 persons assembled to hear the trial and sat out the entire proceedings.

The jury was made up of business men.

SENATE NOT TO OUST MAYFIELD SENATORS THINK

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—R. B. Creager, Republican State chairman of Texas, who is here to try to prevent Senator-elect Mayfield from taking his seat in the 68th Congress, in a statement Saturday, expressed confidence that the next Senate would refuse to seat Mayfield, not on the Ku Klux Klan, but alleged excessive expenditures in the senatorial race.

As there will be no extra session, it will be eight or nine months before the Senate will consider the matter at the first session of the new Congress next December.

Senators who were interviewed Saturday said confidentially they did not believe the Senate would refuse to seat Mayfield unless it was proved beyond a doubt that excessive expenditures were made by Mayfield.

AGED EX-SLAVE WILLS HOME TO WHITE WHO "NEVER FAILED HIM"

Fayetteville, N. C., Feb. 10.—Because "Mister Willie" never failed him when he needed advice or help, William James McAlister of Fayetteville, aged ex-slave who died Saturday, made William Fuller of New York, general counsel of the American Tobacco Company, sole heir and beneficiary of his estate, consisting of a small cabin and its furnishings, it was learned when McAlister's will was found. The old negro's death was caused by burns sustained when he fell into an open fireplace.

"My wife, now deceased, belonged to his (Mister Fuller's) father and mother," read McAlister's will, "and it was my pleasure to be near the Fuller family after the war, bringing an intimacy between me and Mr. Willie, then a small boy. When I needed advice, Mr. Willie never failed me. He may not need my little home, I pray but he will know better what to do with it than I, and in this way I want to show my appreciation for what he has done for me."

McAlister, who was 94 years of age, had been a resident of this city as long as the oldest citizens can remember.

Fuller formerly lived in Fayetteville.

PROFESSOR ROENTGEN DISCOVERER OF X-RAY IS DEAD AT MUNICH

Berlin, Feb. 15.—Professor William Conrad Roentgen, discoverer of the Roentgen rays, popularly known as x-rays is dead at Munich.

William Conrad Roentgen was born in Lennep, Prussia on March 27, 1845, received his early education in Holland and then studied at Zurich, Switzerland, where he took his doctor's degree in 1869. After service as professor of Physics at various German universities, he went in 1855 to Wurzburg where in 1895 he made the discovery for which his name was widely known of the Roentgen X-rays.

It was while experimenting with a highly exhausted vacuum tube on the conduction of electricity through glass that he first produced the rays, which because of their great penetration and power of passing through various substances, which are opaque to ordinary light, have become of the greatest value in science, especially to the medical profession.

For his discovery he received the Rumford medal of the Royal Society in 1896, jointly with Philip Lenard, who was honored because of his previous researches with cathode rays.

Quart of Water Cleans Kidneys

Take a Little Salts if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

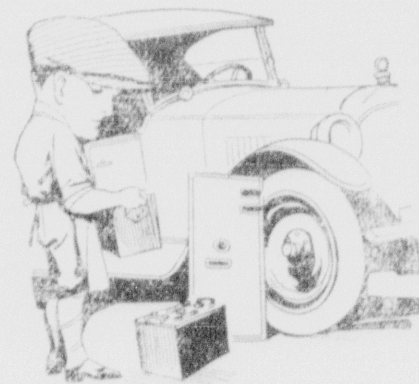

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

SENATOR WITT ON TEXTBOOK BILL

ALSO DISCUSSES TAX MEASURE
BELIEVES CONSOLIDATION AND COURT BILLS WILL PASS

Senator Edgar E. Witt is home from Austin, having come up to look after private business. Asked concerning some of the important legislation now pending, the senator said he believed the bill establishing a new court of appeals in Waco and the bill consolidating the Beaumont and Great Northern and the Trinity and Sabine railroads would pass and become laws. There was opposition to both, he said; to the former by those who wanted the new court established at Abilene and to the latter by some of the people residing in the counties through which the roads run. But both bills have been reported favorably by committees and their chances seem favorable.

The senator, however, was concerned more apparently in the discussion of the text book bill and the tax measures under consideration than any other legislation and was asked to give his views thereon. He readily assented as follows:

"The newspapers have not given the people the real facts or controversy involved in what is known as the Pope text book bill. As it doubtless appears to the people, the effect of the Pope bill would be merely to cancel the recent text book awards and save the people a million eight hundred thousand dollars. As a matter of fact, there is a wide variance of opinion as to the additional cost that will be incurred by the recent adoption. The governor has figured the maximum additional cost at $325,000, which will be distributed over a period of five years, or $65,000 a year, which means less than the cost of two five-cent packages of chewing gum per year for each school child. It would seem that if the new books are to cost no more than this, and they are as superior to the old books as most teachers think they are, this additional money ought to be spent on the school children in order to provide better books. There is the other question involved which is the justice of the state undertaking to arbitrarily cancel a contract entered in good faith and as to which there has not been suggestion of fraud or improper conduct, any more than an individual should be permitted to breach his contract.

But the seriousness of the Pope bill as it appeared to me was not so much because it undertook to cancel the new adoptions, but it undertook to renew and extend all existing contracts for a period of three years from and after December 1, 1922. By making contracts expire in December of a school year, it carried them forward not only the three years mentioned but an additional year, or a total of four years. Many of the contracts which were thus to be extended were originally made when school book prices were at the highest pinnacle; and the effect of this extension would have been to saddle on the state of Texas these high-priced contracts for a period of four years—no provision being made for and competition either as to books or as to prices. In my judgment, even if the newly adopted books would cost the people of Texas a million dollars or more, which I am sure is a greatly exaggerated sum, this amount is not half what the extra cost would have been to renew and extend for four years all the other contracts which this bill undertook to extend.

By amendments adopted by the Senate to the bill, the old contracts while extended are made to extend only in event the state text book commission does not under existing law make other or different awards; thus releasing the hog-tying to high prices in the original bill and giving opportunity for competition in books and prices.

The public believing that this change would entail this enormous cost, has been almost unanimous in its demand for the passage of the bill; had the public known, however, of the enormous cost involved in the renewal of old contracts provided for in the bill, it would have felt very differently about the legislation.

In regard to the tax measure which as yet have not been considered by the senate, but most of which are still pending in the house, I do not think the public should feel such alarm as it seems to have. I have talked with a great many members of the house and their purpose in passing these measures is not to increase the total revenue of the state in any substantial sum, but to raise the funds for the state government in some way other than ad valorem taxes. It is realized by everybody that the present administration of the ad valorem tax laws of our state is most just and unjust and inequitable; not only because of the varying values in different counties, but because the man whose property consists of real estate is paying the taxes; while the man whose property consists of money and stocks and bonds or other property not visible to the tax assessor, is paying practically no part of the taxes. Many owners of real estate have not made from their farms and other real properties sufficient income the last few years to pay their taxes, and they must have some relief.

As for myself, I have not as yet gone into a careful analysis of the possible revenues under the existing tax laws, or of the necessary expenses of the state government for the next two years; and have an open mind as to whether we continue to secure revenue for the state government with the admittedly inequitable system of ad valorem taxes, largely, or whether there should be an effort to reduce the ad valorem tax and make up such reduction in the way of special taxes or incomes taxes. I certainly will not advocate any sort of special or income taxes, unless I think the reduction of the same will be either to reduce the present ad valorem tax or to prevent its increase. While I realize that an income tax is in the present state of the public mind a very unpopular tax—unpopular I think largely because of the amount of same and the complicated system of reporting and collecting same employed by the Federal government—yet, my present opinion is that an income tax for state purposes is preferable to an ad valorem tax, because it calls for payment only when the taxpayer has the income to pay with, and is the tax which the person paying cannot easily pass on to "Jones," and because it is capable of a much more equitable enforcement. Under an ad valorem tax, A and B might each make an income of $10,000 a year, and one be burdened all his life with the support of the state government and the other never pay any taxes at all; because A might be frugal and industrious and invest $6,000 of his income each year in lands or other visible property, and as the years go by have an increasing burden of taxes; while B by investing in notes and bonds or other invisible properties or by living up to and spending his income and exercising neither thrift nor frugality, would accumulate no visible property subject to taxation and go Scot free year after year of any liability for taxes. In principle this discrimination is wrong.

But as I have said above, I have an open mind on these tax problems. They are problems that are very difficult of solution—have always been with us, and will never be solved in a way altogether satisfactory to the taxpayer. None of us ever like to pay taxes, whether it is assessed against us as an ad valorem tax, as an income tax, or in any other way; but taxes in some form or other must be collected or we cannot maintain our government, our educational institutions, our eleemosynary institutions, our courts, etc. It is much easier for an individual to figure out how the tax ought to be levied so as to let him alone, than it is for a legislator to figure out how to assess it so as to be equitable and fair to everybody.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and youthfulness to hair when faded, streaked or gray

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

Baker's Anti-Parochial School Bill Is Killed.

questioned the right of Mr. Baker to speak for the Lutherans, whom Mr. Baker had praised for their course in regard to the bill. Mr. Burmeister said: "I am a Lutheran. By what authority do you say you speak for them?"

Mr. Baker replied that he "represented the opinion of the Lutherans in his community."

In behalf of the bill Mr. Baker asserted that this is a "Protestant Christian Nation," founded by Protestants, and that it has extended the invitation to others to come here and worship as their consciences may dictate. He declared that the State had the right to provide for compulsory education, and that it has a right to know what is being taught the children. In some schools, he asserted, "they are being taught in foreign language and in some they are being taught that marriages performed under the forms recognized by this country are not legitimate."

The bill, he said, required that schools other than public schools, must follow the general State curriculum, but that the private or parochial schools could, in addition, give religious instruction. Those giving proper instruction, he argued, ought not to object to inspection. At the call of expiration of his time to speak in behalf of the bill the usual extension of time was refused on objection of Representative Finlay.

The opposition centered principally on Sec. 4 of the proposed bill. Under it the County School Superintendent or the superintendent of the independent district, town or city school, would have the right to go into a private or parochial school, or into the homes of children taught by the parent or private tutor, and conduct an examination of the pupil on the curriculum of the public schools of the same grade.

In emphasizing this feature of the bill Representative Fruka asked Mr. Baker if in ten years it should transpire that the majority of the voters in this community were Jews and there should be a Jewish superintendent of schools, if he would be willing to have that Jewish superintendent come into his home and question the instruction that was being given his children. Mr. Baker replied "That before there would be a Jewish superintendent of schools in his county all the Christians would be dead."

Representative Blount, who offered the motion to strike out the enacting clause of the bill, declared that there is one matter upon which the people of this country are united, and that is the jealousy with which they view any encroachment on the rights of the home and upon the right to raise children as parents consider proper. The peace of the State he asserted, would be torn to pieces by operation of such a law as proposed.

In offering the amendment to strike out the enacting clause he said that the bill would add additional burden upon the public schools, would entail the expense of furnishing free textbooks to private and parochial schools, would make useless large amounts now invested in private schools; hamper such institutions as the Texas-Mexican College, which the legislators had visited on their trip to the Rio Grande Valley, and permit County Superintendents to invade the homes. He summed the bill up as "unfair, unconstitutional, bad business, bad politics, bad education and bad religion."

Representative Lackey, to whom Mr. Blount yielded the floor, was even more vehement against the measure.

Announcing that "he is a thirty-second degree Mason and not in any way affected personally by the proposed bill," he said:

"If you pass this bill it is going to raise more 'Billy Hell' than anything ever passed by a Legislature. It will raise trouble, and, I believe, bloodshed."

He asserted that the proposed legislation was dangerous ground and that it would be unconstitutional and it would cost the school system $300,000 a year.

The attack upon the constitutionality of the measure, which was raised by several members, was based on the provision that there shall be no public funds appropriated at any time for support of any private or religious institutions. It was claimed that the provision in the bill, that the State should supply free textbooks required in the State curriculum for use in the private and parochial schools, or in home teaching, was violation of this constitutional provision.

Before the motion was made to strike out the enacting clause, an amendment to the original bill was adopted at the suggestion of the author. This amendment specified that there might be an appeal from the decision of a superintendent to the County Board of Education and further appeal if desired to the State Superintendent and State Board of Education upon the question of whether the curriculum as provided by the State was being met.

Another amendment was offered by Representative Wells to strike out the first section of the bill, which provided attendance for the full period in which public school was conducted. He asked that this matter of length of attendance be left to be fixed in a later bill, dealing with that topic alone. Representative Carter of Coke offered as a substitute a provision exempting any child from compulsory attendance of more than 180 days at school if parents were dependent upon the child for support. The Carter amendment was ruled out on a point of order and the Wells amendment to strike out the enacting clause taking precedence, under the House rules.

The action by the House in killing the bill was made irrevocable by adoption of a motion to reconsider the action and table.

The roll call, showing how the members voting on the amendment striking out the enacting clause, killing the bill follows:

TODAY.

Sure, this world is full of troubles—
I ain't said it ain't,
Lord I've had enough, an' double,
Reason for complaint.
Rain an' storm have come to fret me,
Skies were often gray;
Thorns an' brambles have beset me
On the road—but, say,
Ain't it fine today!

What's the use of always weepin',
Making trouble last?
What's the use of always keepin'
Thinking of the past?
Each must have his tribulation,
Water with its wine;
Life it ain't no celebration.
Trouble? I've had mine—
But today is fine.

It's today that I am livin',
Just a month ago,
When I was a kin', givin',
As time will it so.
Yesterday a cloud of sorrow
Fell across the way;
It may rain again tomorrow,
I may rain—but, say,
Ain't it fine today!

LYLES-DULING.

A wedding of unusual interest to many friends in Cameron was solemnized last Tuesday at eleven o'clock a. m., when Miss Gordon Lyles became the bride of Grady Duling.

This was a home wedding of unusual beauty. The entire reception suite featured white, pink and green color scheme. The draping of smilax in attractive designs gave pleasing effect. An improvised altar with smilax and ferns formed bank in the back ground with handsome ivory floor baskets at either side filled with freeziers.

Only close friends and relatives were invited to attend. Mrs. J. R. Taylor was acting hostess and greeted each guest as they arrived. Misses LeSeur, of Mexico, and Johnson of Martindale were ribbon bearers forming the isle with handsome ribbons for bridal party to enter through. Mrs. Max Harvey sang "At Dawning" with Miss Eileen Smith presiding at the piano. The bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March as follows: Miss Laura Courtney Maid of Honor came in first upon the arm of Mr. E. S. Taylor, followed by little Elma Lyles, sister of the bride, dressed in dainty costume, bearing the ring in a pure white lily. Next came little Adlina Black, beautifully dressed scattering roses from a gorgeous flower basket. With all eyes centered upon her, came the dainty bride leaning upon the arm of the groom. Rev. Stewart, pastor of the First Methodist church, read the impressive ring ceremony. During the service Miss Smith softly played "The Venetian Love Song." After the ceremony all repaired to the dining room which was a bower of beauty with its white maline streamers with handsome bows which were caught up to the chandelier from either side of table and crystal holders with pink lighted tapers shed a rosy glow over the scene. The wedding cake was in three tiers and rested on a centerpiece of pink rose buds and maiden hair ferns; was embossed in pink bride rose buds, and three tiny white doves perched on top of a cake. Usual emblems were hidden in cake and much merriment was caused over the cutting of same.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mort Lyles of Temple, Texas. She was born in Cameron living here until large enough to enter school. She is a graduate of Temple High School, attended Southwestern University at Georgetown; was a popular member of Phi Mu; is the grand daughter of Col. R. Lyles of this city and comes of an old Kentucky family who have always been noted for beauty, culture and refinement. She is much loved by all who know her and possesses all the graces that womanhood is heir to. She was gowned in a charming creation of brown lace over gold, with large picture hat in gold and brown, shoes and gloves to match and carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart rose buds and freeziers, which she tossed on leaving and was caught by Miss Rachel Cooper, of Baylor College.

The groom is a young business man with bright prospects, holding a valuable position with the Deering Motor Company of Temple, and has furnished apartments ready for his bonny bride when they return from their wedding trip which will include a number of cities in Texas. They left in their new Sedan—a gift from the groom to the bride. They were recipient of many costly and handsome presents, which included three chests of silver.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyles served a delightful midday luncheon to the guests before leaving. Out of town guests were Mrs. R. L. Batte, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Batte, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Max Harvey, Mrs. LeSeur Teague and son, Ike, of Waco, Misses LeSeur of Mexico, Cooper of Baylor College and Ida Johnson of Martindale.

LITTLE SEWING CLUB.

Little Carolyn Cheeves was the dainty hostess to the Little Sewing Club last Saturday afternoon.

Those present were Jane Tyson, Dorothea Kidd, Beulah Collier, Madie Watson and Carolyn Cheeves.

Matocha on George Washington's birthday, Feb. 22nd.

HEALTH ESSAYS BY SCHOOL STUDENTS

CORNELIA GUNN AND HARIETT FLINN WRITE ON HEALTH SUBJECTS

(By Cornelia Gunn)

The following two essays on "Why We should Have Health Classes and Physical Training in Our Schools," were written by Cornelia Gunn and Harriett Flinn.

Every school should have health classes. Health is much more valuable than gold, silver and precious stones. When you are healthy you enjoy living. But when you are not healthy you are miserable and things are apt to go wrong. Good health makes us stronger physically, mentally and morally.

"To be healthy is to be happy" is a saying that might profitably be read among the people the wide world over. School children should keep healthy in order to be happy. They must come to school in the morning having slept enough, clean and with a fresh mind ready to do his work. If he does not feel good during school he is not happy.

By having health classes we learn to keep our community clean. If the people do not keep their town clean, disease will spread and there will not be much business carried on. But if a city is kept clean it will prosper much in business and knowledge.

From our health classes we learn many important facts about foods. We should eat at regular times. If a green apple or peach is not good for us we should not eat it. We learn to eat foods that contain different properties. We learn that it is necessary for the body to have fats, proteins, sugars and minerals.

The Physical Training should be given in all schools. It develops the mind, strengthens the body and makes us feel like doing all work well and willingly. Exercise is necessary for the growth and health of the body. It makes the muscles large and strong makes the heart beat and the blood to flow faster. It causes deep breathing and helps digestion we get some exercise out of work when we use our hands. Games consist of much exercise. When games are being played, we should not sit around and not play. That forms a regular habit and you will never want to play. Games should be played in the open air. Every school in the land should have large playgrounds on cold, wet days when it is impossible to play out of doors the teachers should give light exercises indoors for a few minutes.

So if we take a little time each day for health classes and physical training we will accomplish much more than if we fail to have the classes.

(By Harriett Flinn)

The most difficult and most necessary work in the World is caring for the health of the children. In doing this we shall be helped greatly by the co-operation of the schools in teaching Health and having classes of Physical Education. Health Classes enable us to learn how to take care of our bodies. If we get into habits of cleanliness when children, these habits will stay with us always. The health classes show us the right kind of habits to form. Physical Education exercises our muscle and keeps us from getting "stiff in the joints." Some children would not take and exercise at all were it not for these drills. They are arranged so as to develop every part of our bodies.

The children of today will be the citizens of tomorrow, the upholders of our towns. A town would be no good if every one were in ill health. You are crabby and ill-tempered when you are sick. Very likely you would get into serious trouble just over a little bit of ill temper. The ill temper was caused by your health. If every one was in ill health I am afraid the town would go to ruin. People would wonder what caused it. If the children of the town had had Health classes and Physical drills the citizens would be healthy and they would come to no such bad end.

Healthy citizens make good towns. Prosperous towns make good nations. If we do not care for the children of today the downfall of a nation will be the result. No one can be president, congressman, etc. when in bad health; therefore we must guard the children for we do not know but what a boy or girl in our school will aspire to these offices.

During the recent World War an unusually large per cent of men were found physically unfit for service. This is a deplorable fact. To begin to correct this is a big undertaking. The best place to start is in the school through the Health Class and Physical Education.

Health should be taught in all public schools. Some people think they can learn it at home or that they already know all about it. But everyone in the world has something yet to learn about the care of their bodies. This study teaches us to care for our bodies, the proper things to eat; it teaches us habits of health, to get the proper amount of sleep and many other things.

It helps us in many ways. If you tried to get a job that required brains and were not healthy you could not get it because your brain can not work properly if you are not healthy. You can not have a good time if you are always sick. If you are healthy you can come to school regularly and learn more. If you learn more you can earn more when you are grown. A healthy, smart man is always needed for something. A sick man never has a job and often commits suicide.

If you are in good health you are always happy. You always have a good disposition. Happiness is essential to health. If you are happy you are healthy and if you are healthy you are happy.

Our health is very essential to the nation. If we are healthy we can fight for our country if need to. We can play base ball, foot ball, basket ball and other games. These make us healthy and strong. If your country was in a war would you not want to fight? You could not pass the examinations if we were not healthy and then how could you fight? If you are healthy you make a good citizen. This helps your country more than fighting.

making about 25 barrels at the usual depth. Several wells in the field are drilling and nearing completion which should be finished soon. There is not much activity in the outlying districts on account of the recent rains and cold weather.

The S. A. Guiberson Jr. number one Posey, is drilling in shale around 3850 feet, there has been no material change up in the formation, but the drillers expect a change within the next few feet. The well is attracting the usual attention from the oil scouts of the large companies, many of which are seen here each day. The farmers in the vicinity of the Posey are again receiving their rental checks some of which represent more than was made on the raising of acrop last year.

The pipe line runs from the field are around the 500 barrel mark, with little new production expected that will increase the pipe line capacity in the next few days. No new locations were reported for the past week, although several rumors are going rounds concerning new territory to be exploited.

Merrill Lewis of South Texas has been visiting friends at Maysfield. He expects to return to this county early in the spring.
